2. BACKGROUND:

EB Performance LLC is initiating a voluntary recall of its PB & Whey Protein Bites. These products are being recalled as a precaution because they contain peanut pieces sourced from Peanut Corporation of America, which have the potential to be contaminated with Salmonella. EB Performance's PB & Whey Protein Bites were sold nationally through select retail stores and direct to customer sales.

Peanut Corporation of America is no longer a supplier to EB Performance and no other EB Performance products are involved in this recall. No illnesses have been reported to date in connection with these products. EB Performance has informed the Food and Drug Administration of its actions and is fully cooperating with the Agency.
